From Jane Skinner

Last weekend was such a joy! The coming together of Easter resurrection, sunshine and singing. All appearing more remarkable with the grey morning following when a sunrise would not have been seen. Over the months of April, May and June, I hope many of you may support another service in the Mission Community when your church doesn't have one. We'll continue to build relationships and sense of fellowship across the parishes. This Sunday we will have a Zoom gathering with Andrew, Hilary and Vera. Hilary is going to hold it together as host as Andrew reads his reflection and Vera leads the intercessions. Please come with an early morning cup of coffee – or a late post-breakfast cup of tea! Chat and then worship together. At the Hartland Coast Mission Community Council meeting on Monday morning at 10am we'll discuss how and with whom Zoom Morning Services may be continued. Please put your ideas forward. We'll need some people ready to have a go with the technology and putting a service together. We also need to discover how many people will take advantage of this continuing when services in our churches start to become more regular. Again, feedback will be really helpful. Enjoy the Heartbeat that Tricia has put together for us. The edition covers April, May and June including rotas, so we're sending this out more widely to help everyone reconnect. Still plenty of Alleluias! In this Easter season

In celebration of your creation.

God of power, as the countryside reveals

Opening buds and ripening grain:

We celebrate your purpose in creation.

God of salvation, as the countryside provides

Tranquillity and timelessness:

We celebrate your grace in creation.

God of wholeness, as the countryside sparkles

With running, living water:

We celebrate your healing in creation.

Father, Son and Holy Spirit, help us to preserve

All that gives and enhances life:

In celebration of your creation.
